When they get through fighting—that's when we can help most!

WHEN the fighting is over, when an armistice comes, when peace and victory are established—then will come the long, long period of demobilization.

In other wars, that change from military back to civil life has been a dangerous one.

Let's make it easy, safe and smooth for our old Yanks.

Let's see that every hour of every day while they are cleaning up the job and waiting for their ships, is filled with wholesome fun and entertainment. Let's give them lots to do and lots to see and hear.

Think what it can mean to millions of Americans to get acquainted with the real France—the history, the traditions, the art and beauty which they have done so much to save!

Plans are mapped out to make our period of demobilization a regular "khaki university" and every soldier can come home with something of the background of those who used to go abroad to study.

In camps and huts and billets here and over there our fighters have shown that they want to get ahead. Books that instruct, books on technical subjects and on civics, government, on history and business, are in greater demand than books of fiction.

When our fighters come back they will be better men in every way than when they left. But we must stay with them until they get back home!

There Has Been Some Misunderstanding About The Red Cross Containers for Soldiers' Christmas Gifts

Please Read This Carefully:

The Official Label must be received from the soldier to whom the gift is to be sent. When this Label is received by you from him bring it to the Woodley Park Red Cross Station—second floor, one flight up—and secure your empty carton. When this has been filled with gifts, bring it back, unwrapped, with the label and 10c in stamps (not coin), to be inspected, weighed (not to exceed 2 pounds 15 ounces), wrapped and forwarded by the accredited Red Cross attendants.

The Red Cross is the only organization that may handle Christmas parcels for soldiers overseas, and the official carton must be used, and the headquarters in our store is the official distributing station.

We have been asked to urge your immediate compliance, as the time is growing short for the handling of these parcels. They must all be on their way before November 20th.
